Practical Information

Weather

Bali, as most of the areas in Indonesia, has a tropical monsoon climate, with two seasons: rainy and dry. The average temperatures of between 21 and 31 degrees Celsius where you will feel comfortable all month long. The weather in September is expected to be warm, sunny and almost rain-free. However, we suggest you bring an umbrella. The hotel provides an umbrella inside the room to be used during your stay.

The meeting room will be air-conditioned; participants are advised to bring a light jacket/pullover for the meeting hours.

Electricity

In Indonesia the standard voltage is 230 V. The standard frequency is 50 Hz. The power sockets that are used are of type C / F (with two round holes plug). You can use your electric appliances in Indonesia, if the standard voltage in your country is in between 220V - 240V (as in the UK, Europe, Australia and most of Asia and Africa). Manufacturers take these small deviations into account. If the standard voltage in your country is in the range of 100V - 127V (as in the US, Canada and most South American countries), you need a power (voltage) converter.

To be sure, check the label on the appliance. If it states 'INPUT: 100-240V, 50/60 Hz', it can be used in all countries of the world (like chargers for tablets/laptops, photo cameras, cell phones, toothbrushes)

Language

Indonesia is the official language. English is commonly spoken by people living in big cities, including Bali. The younger generation and those in the tourist industry.

Practical Information

Currency

The local currency is Indonesian Rupiah which is equivalent to IDR 16,200 to a US dollar. Currency can be exchanged at the airport or any bank or at the hotel or exchange bureau. Automated teller machines (ATM) are readily available.
